

GSOC Travel Patrols

Interested in Traveling? See the World with a Travel Patrol!
Our vision is an equal world where all girls can thrive through global experiences.

Brownies and their leaders travel with Global Action Team volunteers for immersive, age-appropriate introductory travel. Troop leaders/adults attend Brownie trips.

Older Girl Scouts travel with Global Action Team volunteers, set their itinerary, learn about the location, and gain travel savvy skills through hands-on planning meetings.

All Girl Scouts follow a developmental Progression Chart of Age-Appropriate Travel experiences designed to build confidence, girl-led decision making & travel know-how.

FAQ: Frequently Asked Questions: GSOC Travel Patrols

Why is travel important for Girl Scouts?

When Girl Scouts travel, they go prepared, not as tourists, but as global citizens, knowledgeable about safety, respectful of culture and intentional in planning activities, service and immersive experiences that make the world a better place. Thoughtful progression builds confidence as girls mature. See Travel Progression Chart. Travel Patrols are an opportunity for Girl Scouts to experience travel, while meeting others beyond their troop.

What is a GSOC Travel Patrol?

Travel Patrol program is designed to provide Girl Scouts the opportunity to become independent global citizens through travel. Travel Patrol activities include girl-led itinerary planning and are coached and led by the GSOC Global Action Team.

What kind of travel is for Daisies? (day trip)

Daisies participate in Level 1 travel as a troop, such as globally themed outings, field trips and events, often during regular troop meeting times.

What kind of travel is for Brownies? (overnight)

Brownies participate in Level 2 travel day trips, or a local overnight (backyard campout). Brownie Travel Patrols are day trips and include the troop leaders and Global Action Team volunteers.

What travel is for Juniors? (extended overnight)

Juniors participate in Levels 3 & 4 trips, including up to 2 nights and less than 250 miles one way (level 3) then multiple nights and over 250 miles one way (level 4). Girls assist with itinerary, reserving accommodations and transportation. Junior Travel Patrol to San Francisco includes pre-trip itinerary planning meetings (4th Mondays at GSOC offices in Irvine) and are led by Global Action Team volunteer chaperones.

What travel is for Cadettes? (National Trips)

Cadettes can participate in Level 5 Travel Patrols to domestic locations. Cadette Travel Patrols include pre-trip itinerary planning meetings (4th Mondays at GSOC offices in Irvine) and are led by Global Action Team volunteer chaperones.

What travel is for Seniors/Ambassadors? (National Trips, International Trips)

Seniors/Ambassadors enjoy the highest Level 6 travel, including domestic and international locations. Sen./Amb. Travel Patrols include pre-trip itinerary planning meetings (4th Mondays at GSOC offices in Irvine) and are led by Global Action Team volunteer chaperones.

Can multi-level troops join single level Travel Patrols?

Troop Travel is best for multi-level troops to travel together. When your girls of the same levels are ready to travel independently from their troop, then Travel Patrols are a great way to participate in single level travel.

Do Travel Patrols accept cookie dough or credits?

Yes! GSOC girls can register for the event first, then complete a Redemption Form to be reimbursed.

How can girls fund their Travel Patrol trips?

Money earning opportunities designed to support a girl's participation in Travel Patrols are offered.

Do troop leaders travel with their Girl Scouts on Travel Patrol trips?

Brownie troop leaders will participate in Brownie level Travel Patrols with their Girl Scouts. Troop adults will learn helpful travel tips to plan troop travel in the future. Older Girl Scouts travel without their leaders, chaperoned by Global Action Team volunteers.

Troop Adults can apply to chaperone Travel Patrols

Who are the Global Action Team adults who lead the Travel Patrol trips?

GAT volunteers are background screened, registered Girl Scout adults who are GSOC travel trainers, and have vast experience with Girl Scout travel. Volunteers donate their time to prepare girls to travel wisely and safely, and then they chaperone the trips.

What is the Global Girl Scout patch program? Developed by the Global Action Team, this patch program introduces Girl Scouts of all ages to our global sisterhood and worldwide movement. Learn more at:
